

Leading the Way in Afterschool

Since 2015, WYAA has an on-going initiative to prevent youth from coming into contact with law enforcement and the school-to-prison pipeline. This summit is designed to provide current research and information to stakeholders and partners about how afterschool programs can be instrumental in prevention and intervention services for at-risk children and youth.

We value your leadership and commitment to your community and the state. We feel your skills and knowledge in this subject matter make you a valuable partner in this discussion.

Thank you for joining us!

Wrap-up and Next Steps

Featured Speakers

Terry Peterson, Ph.D. -

Terry serves as a rich background in afterschool policy work that helps link education, public safety, business, cultural and community organizations to enhance opportunities for young people.

Major Darren Grimshaw -

Darren manages School Resource Officers in Burlington, IA. He is an advisory member of the Iowa Afterschool Alliance, and a White-Riley Peterson Policy Fellow at the Riley Institute, Furman University.

Adrienne Freng -

Adrienne's research at UW looks at gang-related juvenile justice issues, including American Indian populations. She is on the State Advisory Council on Juvenile Justice, among other roles in the field.

Martha Brooks -

Martha advocates for Fight Crime Invest in Kids, and she believes that preventing kids from becoming criminals should be a higher priority over waiting for them to fill jail beds.

Jillian Balow -

As State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Jillian is committed to the education of Wyoming youth. She was also awarded as 'Most Influential in State and Local Government' by the National Afterschool Alliance in 2016.
